Hometown Power

From small towns to large cities, community-owned, not-for-profit public power utilities, like GRDA and the Tahlequah Public Works Authority, power homes and businesses in more than 2,000 communities across the U.S.

Public Power also provides reliable, low-cost electricity to more than 49 million people across the United States and employees over 96,000 citizens from the communities it serves. (publicpower.org)
